

HOMEFront

Enjoy the Aftereffects

After a movie at the cinema, people file out, jump into their cars and head home. Encourage your guests to hang out when the movie ends by incorporating some type of casual seating area into the back of your home theater. What you do in your theater before and after the show should be just as integral to the experience as the movie itself.

